The Case of Ingersoll in Supreme Court, Chambers.

HE IS CALLED UPON TO DISCORGE.

Does Not See It, and Puts in a "Bar" to the Bemand Through Able Members of the Bar.

ARGUMENT OF COUNSEL, PRO AND CON.

The Case To Be Resumed This Morning.

Yesterday morning the case of Ingersoll was again taken up. The repeated adjournments of the proceedings to compet Mr. Ingersolt to tell what he knows about the city frauds have excited great carriosity, and the court room was crowded yester-

Judge INGRAHAM inquired whether the coansel were ready to proceed, and Mr. Pullerton said that, to make the proceeding completely regular, he would present an order to show cause, returnable forthwith, why this proceeding should not be dismissed. This seemed to him the only way to secure so the defendants, and to if e plaintids, too, their

After the reasing of the asidavit Mr. Fullerton

May it please Your Honor, I suppose that the numerous learned counsel on the other side will not retend that their client has any legal standing in this Court, unless they claim it by virtue of the act of 1864. To this net I will in the first instance call Your Honor's attention, too, custaining, as I will prove to the satisfaction of the Court, that it is unconstitutional and void, and consequently gives the plaintiff no right whatever as a prosecutor. If this propostsion can be maintained it will be, of course, an end to these proceedings. The Court must take it for granted, whatever francis may have been committed against the city and county of New York. Counsel. on the other side must proceed in their prosecution by lawful and constitutional procedure, binding apon every cutzen. To show that counsel have opon every citizen. To show that counsel have failed in this respect I call attention to the third section of the Laws of 1864, the provisions of which are to be found on page 945:—

The Common Council of the city of New York, and also the Supervisors of said county of New York and the several members thereof, are series decision of the supervisor of said county of New York and the several members thereof, are series decision and the supervisor of said county of New York and the several members thereof, are series decision and an person residing in said city, and assessed to may be committed to their management of countrol; and any person residing in said city, and assessed to may taxes shorein, who shall pay lakes therein, is hereby decisared to be a contragate frust in respect to the said property, funds and effects, to all the rights and remedies provided by law of any co-trinsice or cells questrust to proceed to and manntain any action to prevent waste and injury to any property, funds or entate hed in treat. Such such the processor of the property is the subject to all the dutes and and responsibilities may be counted by any co-trustice of the questions and responsibilities may be colored by any co-trustice of the questions and responsibilities in the countries.

It is not necessary to call Your Honor's attention to the lact that the law quoted by the other side is an infraction of the constitutional laws of the State and cannot be accepted in sustainment of their

PREFERRING TO THE INJUNCTION CASE.

Judge Ingranam—Has it not aready been decided by Judge Barnard that the plaintiff has power to maintain an injunction?

Mr. Fullerton—The point was not raised nor was the injunction granted on the provisions of the section I referred to.

Mr. Barnow—Council is wrong. Judge Barnard polemny decided after full consideration of all the points raised against the proposition of counsel for the defendant. Mr. O'Gorman, Corporation Autories, raised the question and argued with great ability, stating the practice of this Court in similar cases. After hearing that argument Judge Barnard expressly held that the papers were in Court and the lary considered them in deciding the question.

Mr. Roor—Judge Barnard's decision did not decide as to its constitutionality of otherwise.

Mr. Fullerton—But it has already been decided for this very Court, at General Term.

Mr. Barner—It has been decided in the injunction case, by Judge Barnard.

Mr. Fullerton—But it has already been decided in the injunction case, by Judge Barnard.

Mr. Fullerton—But it has already been decided on the same state of facts I wish counsel to understand that I wall consult Judge Barnard as to what he has decided, and small not reverse his decision here. That must be decided by General Perm.

Mr. Fullerton—I have yet that case to present to Your Honor. The Court will remember that, some what he has decided, and shad not reverse his decision here. That must be decided by General Term.

Mr. Fullerion—I have yet that case to present to Your Honor. The Court will remember that, some time since, Mr. Pullman commenced an action against the city and county of New York for the purpose of restraining the execution of a lease for premises in Nassau street, and he appeared to the Court for an injunction therein by the third section of the act quoted. There was a demairer interposed to the complaint in the act in that case, and Judge Satheriand, after extensive argument, sustained the demurrer. From all I have learned in connection with the subsequent decision claimed to have been given by Judge Barnara I believe that I am warranted in charging that Judge Barnard, in the case referred to gave a very contrary decision.

Mr. Barrett restricted in the guestion the Foley injunction case, and who was patiently istened to for two case of argument, and the question then arose whether that decision has not been overruled at a General Term of this Court, and subsequently by the Court of Appeals, and also whether the act referred to had not been enacted in another form, and which Judge Satherland had manifes by overlooked. Alicer a Gui and chaodrate discussion of these points Judge Satherland had neared due to include in the Court of Appeals, and Judge Barnard gave his decision in the Injunction case accordingly, overruling Judge Satherland had overtooked the ruling in the Court of Appeals, and Judge Barnard gave his decision in the Engineeric continuous the Publican case.

Mr. Fullerion of more accutedly—It there is such a decision let its see it, and not be lold of the breath that leaves a judge's nosaris. (Evalent impression the Court.

Mr. Stoughton—Is there any copy of this decision in the Court.

Mr. Stoughten-is there any copy of this deciston?

proceeding, two gamedies—one under section 330 of the tour and the other under a different section. The sections 355 and sol had no reference to brooks and cooks and sucers. Section 355 did authorize a mage to order a party to give an inspection of his brooks. Section 355 did authorize a mage to order a party to give an inspection of his brooks. Sections 350 and 750 ald refer exclusively to the examination of a party before trial, and section 354 to books and papers. The rule made on this provided that the adidaxit should state the nature of the discovery sought, in order to frame a compliant or answer. He thought this was a biunder, if referring to section 351 mistend of section 383.

Judge Ingraham said they knew what they intended when this rule was made. It was to indiffiate the secting of information in certain parts of the State.

Mr. Frulierton asked then what the eighteenth and inheteenth rules meant; these rules required the suidavit to state that there were entries in the book or paper referred to of the matter he seeks a discovery of. Mr. Fullerton made a hong argument on these law points.

Mr. Sroboarron said they had now Judge Barnard's attidave to state that there were entries in the book or paper referred to of the matter he seeks a discovery of. Mr. Poliction made a long argument on these law points.

Mr. Stouchron said they had now Judge Barnard's opinion expressly declaring that he did not pass on the constitutional question, at least if the reports published were to be relied on.

Mr. Follekard's said the rejoiced at what was done by the press of the city in the case, and hoped that all trands would be uncarined; but he wished it done in a proper and legal way, and not turn the Court into a town meeting or vigilance committee.

After the recess theoral Barlow proceeded to answer adupt Fuliciton's points, chairing that defendant had no right to object that the plaintiff had no standing in Court, and moreover urging that the Court would not refuse the examination unless it was plain that the examination could never be used. The claimit depended on the act of 184 relative to corporations, but not entirely, as the case of Draper and Roosvict was a precedent, and justified their present action. General Enriow argued at leact that the act of 1861 applied to the present case, and desended the subsolency of the plaintiff spapers as a ground for the action.

Judge Ingarland vielding to the desire that Mr. Barreit and Ar. Stougaton should speak briefly in ricoring, lammated that a great deal of time had been unnecessarily taken up in arguing a comparatively trivial question. It evidently derived its importance from the public laterest taken on the subject, and that only, and counsel had seemed to give all importance to this point.

The Court then adjourned till eleven o'clock this morning, when, no doubt, the Court will evoke some light out of all this chaos.

Charge of Not Paying Special Tax.

Before Commissioner Shields.

The United States es. Myer.—The defendant keeps bearding house for women at 33 Bayard street. retail inquor dealer without paying the special tax required by law; and in reply to like accusation she said she did not know that boarding noises of the description kept by her had any right to pay this special tax. The Commissioner discharged her on her own recognizance to appear to-morrow for examination.

Is Copyright a Thing that Can Be Taxed ? Before Commissioner Osborn.

Vesterday Commissioner Osborn took some tes-timony in the matter of the petition of G. T. James, Nesterday Commissioner Osbera took some testimony in the matter of the petition of C. T. James, a publisher of chromos and engravings in this city, who seeks for the remission of certain duties imposed at the Custom Hoose on chromos unported by him from France. It appears that about a year ago Mr. James purchased some pictures in Europe, for where he paid $1.00 each. This sum covered not only the pictures, but the trames, and also the copyright. Chromos of those pictures are printed in Paris and Towarded for sale to this country, the understanding with Mr. James being that the chromos cannot be sold in France. This raises the question as to whether there is any market value at all for sich chromos in France. Mr. Da Costa, counsel for Mr. James, contends that there can be no standard of market value for an article in any soundry where that article is not sold, and that it a duty is to be imposed upon it it must be arrived at in some other way. The government, represented by Mr. Seigwick, United States Assistant District Altorney, seek to tax the chromos on the ground, among other things, that the copyright as neld in them by Mr. James, is a valuable property. Mr. Da Costa, on the other hand, maintains that copyright is an inlangible thing, and, therefore, not hable to day and utterly worthless to-morrow. The question myolved is one of interest. It is proper to say that the chromos now in higherion, are, an of them, upon subjects of an elevating and retining character.

Action Against a City Marshal.

Before Judge Tracy.
Smith vs. Bogari.—The plaintiff, a former city marshal, seized under an execution forty-one coats, marshal, seized under an execution forty-one coats, the property of one Weinthul, valued at $500. They were subsequently sent by a partner of the plaintiff's to Regart's auction rooms for safe keeping pending legal proceedings. Plaintiff claims to have domanded them of delendant many menths since, but could get no satisfaction, and that they were only delivered—to the former owner a few days since, but so moth-caten as to be worthess. Plaintiff has since been suich by Weinthal for the value of the goods, an order having been issued from the Common Pleas requiring his delivery of them. Defendant claims to have received them from another marshal; that they were once called for and he understood them to have been delivered, but that his store being flooded, all goods were removed and store being flooded, all goods were removed and stored elsewhere for a length of time, and it was only within a short time that their whereabout was discovered, which being reported to plaintiff, he directed them to be delivered to Weinthai. THE VIELE CASE.

TO THE PUBLIC:- 11 PINE STREET, Oct. 11, 1971. The statement made by Mr. Harrison, counsel for Mr. Viele, when my case was called, on the 9th mat, in the Supreme Court, to the effect that Mr. Vielo was ready for trial; that I had made a proposition which in substance gave him the results of a triat in his favor, and that unless the provisions of such an arrangement were carried out he should be ready for a trial in December next, is a perversion of the facts in the case, and does me such great injustice that I have no alternative but to publicly correct it. Mr. Vielo states that he was ready for the trial. So was I. The proposition for adjustment came from him in a letter addressed by his counsel to mine, although an arrangement of all matters and differences between us was suggested by Judge William Fullerton, my senior counsel, and acted upon by the other size. The arrangement which was entered into gives me the substantial results of the trial in which I kim plaintiff, and unless these signilations are carried out for my benefit I shall be ready to urge the trial on the 1st of December next. I do not caim that I desire any advantage over Mr. Vicie by this arrangement, nor shall his counsel assert one over the without contradiction. If Mr. Harrison did use the language imputed to him, he is quite at liberty to enjoy all the satisfaction to be derived from reopening an unpicasant controversy which was on the eve of a satisfactory adjustment. Viele was ready for trial; that I had made a propo

PINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

On 'Change to-day wheat was in better supply and prices heavy and rather lower. The cotton market was quiet and unchanged. MONEY STRINGENT.

The money market was stringent, and borrowers had the same difficulty in procuring loans, particularly on stock collaterals, but did not on the whole pay as extravagant rates for accommodation. After the consumption of all that was offered early in the day at seven per cent gold, the inquiry became quite active at the full legal rate in currency, with the addition of commissions ranging from 1/4 to 1/4 per cent, which, to avoid the usury law, were paid by the process known as "turning" stocks. In these transactions the lender of the money makes a contract to pay a certain price "cash" for the stocks of the borrower, and the latter agrees at the same time to take back the stocks to-morrow at a price which is 34 a 16 per cent higher than the "cash" price. In this way the holders of stocks are enabled to make good their bank accounts from day to day. The maniry abated soon after three o'clock ( which in a time like the present is not insisted upon as the nour for closing the banks), particularly as the report was circulated that the District Attorney had een invited to watch for transgressions of the usury law. Some effect was also produced by the offering of about $200,000 of government in oney received late in the afternoon in payment for bonds turned into the Sub-Treasury. Under these circumstances the closing rates became seven per cent in cels on stocks and seven in currency on govern ment collaterals, a few loans having been reported at as low as six per cent on the latter securities.

Commercial paper is yet too indefinitely regarded to be susceptible of proper quotation.

POREIGN EXCHANGE LOWER. The foreign exchange market was heavy and lower in consequence of a pressure to seil bills drawn on London by one or two of the New York agents of British insurance companies subjected to losses by the fire at Chicago. The supply thus furnished enabled the leading foreign bankers to draw at a considerable concession upon yesterday's rates, and sates of prime sixty day sterling were reported to have been made at as low as 105½. The following were the quotations at the close:—Sterling, sixty days, commercial, 103 a 105½; good to prime bankers', 198% a 103%; short sight, 109% a 109%; Paris, sixty days, 5.36% a 5.30; short sight, 5.27% a 5.16%; Antworp, 5.30 a 5.25; Switzerland, 5.28% a 5.23%; Hamburg, 35% a 35%; Amsterdam, 40% a 40%; Frankfort, 40% a 41%; Bremen, 78 a 78%;

Prussian thalers, 71% n 72%.
THE GOVERNMENT PURCHASE OF BONDS The offer of the government to buy two militons of five-twenties elicited proposals of $10,010,000 bonds, at prices ranging from 111.70 to 112.74. About five millions was submitted at a discount of 2% a 2% per cent from par in gold. This pressure to sell was doubtless due to realization on the part of many of the insurance companies who suffered losses at Chicago. The Secretary of the Treasurer accepted four millions of the bonds, and paid 111.70 for $100,000, 111.75 for $2,000,000 and 111.77 for $1,900,000. With gold at 114% the bonds were obtained, therefore, at an average discount of nearly

2% per cent from par in gold. GOVERNMENTS WEAK AND LOWER. The bravy offerings at the Sub-Treasury and the of the chadren of Julia O'Connor and Daniel O'Con- low prices asked robbed the government market of its strength, despite the important general feature of an extra purchase and large cancellation of the public debt. The pressure to get money to meet claims arising out of the disaster at Chicago has, for the present, overcome considerations as to intrinsic value; but why there should be this sudden and rash haste on the part of the insurance companies to lorce the market with their sales, when, under the term of their policies they are allowed sixty to ninety days for the adjustment of losses, it is content to understand, unless, as is probably the case, most of the companies are anxious to cultivate a continuance of public patronage by a speedy settlement of all claims. Under these circumstances the market became very feverish subsequent to the Treasury purchase, especially as it was discovered that Mr. Boutwell's resources were not ample enough to allow him to give the support of coninued large purchases, his currency balance at the close of business to-day, or before it had been affected by the disbursements for to-day's transaction, being only $9,200,000. Indeed, if Mr. Boutwell desires to help the money market and maintain thestanding of his new loan he will be under the ecestity of making his purchases for gold direct, as the Herald has often recommended him to do. The five-twenties at the close were offered at a discount of 2% from their par in gold, while the tenforties were almost neglected. The following were the final street prices:-United States currency sixes, 111% a 112%; do. do., 18-1, registered, 115- a 115)4; do. do., coupon, 11574 a 116)4; do.

In the gold loan market the rates ranged from 1-c4 for no rowing to 7 per cent for carrying. The operations of the Gold Exchange Bank were as follows:- $55,419,000
Gold cleared $55,419,000
Gold balances 1,603,317

The Southern State bonds were dull outside of the

The Tennessees raihed and closed quite strong in response to the better feeling inspired by the recent message of the Governor calling on the Legislature to so adjust taxation as to provide gradually for placing the credit of the State on an interest paying basis. The South Carolinas were weak and lower. A few lots of the old bonds went at 75. STOCKS BETTER AND STEADY. The stock market, pursuing the recuperative ten-dency noticed at the close of the excited dealings of Tuesday, when the rumor of an extra purchase of bonds went into circulation, opened with a smart inquiry from the "pears" who had not covered and from the class of operators who buy for quick turns. Under large purchases from this source the early market was strong and had quite a buoyant tone, its firmness being fairly maintained until after the announcement of the government acceptances of bonds, when, the amount bought being fully discounted, some pointment was felt at the refusal to buy a still larger amount, and the market felt off again. As the day drew to a close the market became dull, but a steadier feeling prevailed. Three small failures occurred to-day, but the amounts involved are insig-
